shelters where the animals have time limits and are put to death if not rescued or adopted and from owners who can no longer care for their pets (total of 6,064 animals). We neither euthanize animals for lack of space nor place time limits on animals available for adoption as long as they remain healthy and well adjusted.

Our adoptions advisors focus on making the right connections between people and animals. Last year we placed 5,960 dogs, cats and critters. From providing health exams, vaccinations, and spay/neuter surgery to performing temperament evaluations, each animal is looked at individually by our professional staff of veterinarians, veterinary staff, and adoption experts. We enhance our ability to adopt animals into the right homes by offering specialized programs:

MaxMobile Offsite Adoption: Takes education and adoptable animals to many locations throughout our community and completed more than 300 adoptions this year.

Animal Socialization Program: Specially-trained volunteers play an important part in the day-to-day socialization of our adoption animals.

Cat Behavior and Socialization: Increases the adoptability of our cats by providing exercise, mental stimulation, basic grooming and socialization.

Dog Behavior and Socialization: Uses positive reinforcement techniques to help increase the adoptability of our dogs by encouraging them to display desired behaviors including focusing on the person, sitting, and walking on leash. Volunteers also provide the dogs with exercise, socialization time and love.

Foster Parents: Volunteers provided temporary care in their homes for 4,448 animals with short-term special needs until they could be made available for adoption. Most foster animals are injured, sick, or kittens and puppies that are too young to be place for adoption.

Volunteer Programs: Our work on behalf of animals is supported by more than 1,400 volunteers that donated 190,000 hours last year. Our volunteers function in dozens of programs on our campus and throughout the community.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b, Program Service Accomplishments:

Curriculum Materials: we offer age-specific materials and resources for use in classrooms and youth programs. Each packet contains information and lesson plans on kindness, responsible pet care, pet safety, choosing a pet and pet overpopulation.

Campus Tours: We offer campus tours for children and adults that include an age-appropriate discussion of our organization's programs and services, responsible pet care, pet overpopulation and kindness towards animals.

Dog Training Classes: We understand that dog training classes enhances the relationship between pet and guardian and lays the foundation for a strong, lifelong relationship between guardian and dog. This year 1,434 people and their pet attended our classes.

Our dog training classes use positive and gentle training methods to ensure each dog's success. Students learn to use a clicker, a science-based system for teaching new behaviors with positive reinforcement, as a marker signal to tell the dog when he is doing the desired behavior.

People and Pet Workshops: Workshops focus on strengthening companionship between people and their pets by offering fun and educational topics to pet owners. Each year, we bring back old favorites as well as offer new topics to pet enthusiasts throughout our community. This year, 238 individuals participated in workshops.

Humane Teen Club: In September 2002, we launched The Humane Teen Club (HTC) to provide volunteer opportunities for 13- to 15- years old and teach them to the benefits of animal companionship. HTC focuses on the importance of animal companionship and welfare through monthly meetings featuring educational presentations and service projects. Teens that complete the program requirements and graduate from the club, may apply to volunteer in selected volunteer programs at The Humane Society for Seattle/King County before turning 16-years old.

Pet Food Bank: Many years ago, we noticed senior citizens giving up custody of their pets at our Adoption Center for lack of money to care for them. Because studies show that the companionship of a pet can
